Profile Summary

I'm a passionate .NET developer with 5 years of experience in building robust and scalable applications. Currently, I serve as the CTO at Topleran and Barnamenevisan, where I lead teams to deliver innovative software solutions that make a difference.

I specialize in back-end development with ASP.NET Core, C#, and Entity Framework, while having experience in front-end technologies to create responsive and dynamic user interfaces. With a deep understanding of development best practices and clean architecture, I enjoy solving complex problems and improving code quality.

I thrive in dynamic environments where I can leverage my leadership skills, guide technical teams, and stay at the cutting edge of technology. I am always eager to learn new technologies and share knowledge with fellow developers.
